

TOWN COUNCIL
HOLD REGULAR BUSINESS SESSION

Routine Business, Accounts and Communications, Relief Measures, Tax Sale, on Agenda

The Bassano town council held a regular monthly session in the town hall on Monday evening, March 2. Mayor H. D. Brink occupied the chair, and there was a full attendance of councillors.

H. W. Ford was re-appointed auditor for 1931.

In discussing the annual tax sale which will be held in the coming spring, it was decided to hold this on May 15. There will be about the average number of parcels of land offered for sale.

A letter was received from the Department of Municipal Affairs, Edmonton, notifying the town that the government requires regular terminals for the use of the motor truck. This agreement direct given to needy persons is shared equally by the town, the provincial government, and the Federal government.

Town Engineer Frank Mead gave the report of his department. It included the cleaning and repair of sewers, overhanging equipment, etc.

There was a lengthy discussion on the problem of motor truck allowances. Under the Mothers' Allowance Act payments for this purpose are becoming a heavy burden to the town.

BIG CROWD
ATTENDS W. I.
SOCIAL AFFAIR

Packed almost to the doors, the Hussar Community Hall last Friday evening was the scene of one of the most successful affairs ever held by the Hussar Women's Institute.

Their annual whist drive and dance was very well attended, people coming from all the neighboring stations to enjoy a gay evening of cards and dancing.

The prize winners were: ladies, first Mrs. D. Melot, cons. Miss Mary Calho; gentlemen, first Bert Rose, cons. Art Fleischman.

Art Fleischman won the sack of flour donated by Geo. Warren, and Guy Foster won the sack of potatoes donated by L. Conn. Both winners gave their prizes to "needy families." Miss Dodds was awarded the prize for the best card, and Mrs. G. H. Hogan and A. L. Smith put on an amateur skit entitled "Kelly and Cohen," and Jim Hamilton entertained the crowd with a fine vocal solo. The dance music was very good.

Mother Charged
With Murder

The coroner's jury adjourned to inquest on the death of the infant child of Katherine McArthur, of Medicine Hat, held the inquest at Brooks last week. Dr. Brathwaite, of Edmonton, chief coroner, was in charge of the inquest. The verdict of the jury was:

"That we, the coroner's jury, find that the death of the infant child came to its death between the hours of 5 and 7 p.m. on February 14, 1931, at the Bantry Reservation, D. N. R. The cause of death was suffocation because of the evidence adduced shows that the suffocation which caused death was induced by the mother of the child, Katherine McArthur."

At the conclusion of the inquest, the preliminary hearing held by a provincial magistrate, G. F. McRae, and the accused committed for trial charged with murder. The trial will take place during the week of March 16.

Sparks and Flashes From the Anvil of Parliament

By T. D. WILSON

With this week's legislative session of the Alberta house reaches its halfway mark, the legislature is not expected to sit longer than the end of March.

The past week has been one of much activity and progress. Following the adjournment of the session last Friday, the debate on the budget, which had been adjourned to the end of last week, was debated with more than usual keenness and spirit, both by the government and the opposition.

A challenge was thrown out to the opposition by Premier Brownlie to indicate in what items the government could practise further economy in its budget. Hugh Montgomery, of Wetaskiwin, proceeded to pick up the challenge and argued money could be saved.

"We in this opposition group contend that economy has not been duly exercised in provincial affairs, and expenditures have generally been permitted to rise. Of 13 government departments 10 show greater expenditures for 1930-31 than for 1929-30."

Pointing out definite items where he thought savings could be practised, the Wetaskiwin member said:

"We in this opposition group contend that economy has not been duly exercised in provincial affairs, and expenditures have generally been permitted to rise. Of 13 government departments 10 show greater expenditures for 1930-31 than for 1929-30."

But in replying to the opposition general manager, Mr. Prentiss, gave only slight attention to the remarks of Mr. Webster, the Liberal leader.

The debate lasted five days and in 118 sessions participated.

Adoption of the budget came after an amendment of the Liberal made by Mr. J. M. Ferguson, of Wetaskiwin, and accepted by Mr. A. G. Grouard, of Grouard, was rejected by a vote of 34 to 17.

The text of the rejected amendment was as follows:

"In view of the present economic conditions existing in this province, the government should not pay the high taxation now imposed, and also having regard to the mounting yearly cost of government."

"This assembly views with apprehension, the large budget of the provincial treasurer, said Alberta could take credit to itself for a budget which in its estimate of the

Thrift --- Waste

At the present time, the majority of little individuals, corporations, governments, are deeply concerned over the prevailing business depression, unemployment, loss of purchasing power, accumulation of debts. Everywhere people are seeking to learn the primary cause with a view to applying a cure, they are anxious not only to overcome existing conditions, but to ascertain the cause with a view to preventing a recurrence of such conditions. Some talk leadership of the world's business and discuss the causes which, in their judgment, are all international in character. Others speak of over-production, although this is generally accepted view now is that the world suffers not so much from over-production as under-consumption. Enormous war debts imposing heavy taxation on all are held by some to be the underlying cause. Restrictive tariffs, shutting off nations and interfering with the free exchange of goods, are another cause. The various economic methods of distribution from primary producer and manufacturer to the ultimate consumer are responsible, so others contend.

But when all these, and a multitude of other things are considered and given their due weight, does not the basic cause lie much nearer home for the average individual? Is it not because of a lack of thrift, the indulgence in habits of waste, that we are in the position in which we are? The writer can well imagine the reader saying to himself that the present is not the time to talk about thrift, when people have little or nothing to save and cannot indulge in waste because they have nothing to waste. But, the writer contends, this is therefore the real opportunity of all time to advise the people to save and to live frugally. It would be well to start, until times are becoming again better, people then are in no mood to listen. It when a dollar comes up big, as ten dollars when times are good and business brisk, that people are more willing to give heed to the benefits of thrift. When money comes easily, it usually goes just as easily, but when it is hard to get we are more inclined to hold on to it.

In an article appearing in the "London Evening Journal" to show how, when he came to America as a lad of six from his native land (the Netherlands), the most wonderful lesson for him was the necessity of thrift. He had already been taught that thrift was one of the fundamentals in his home. His family had come from a land noted for its thrift; but he says, "we had been in the United States only a few days before we realized that there was no such thing as thrift in America. The Dutchmen had taught their children to a land of waste." Where says Mr. Bok, the Dutchman saved, the American wasted. There was waste, and the most profligate waste, in every hand. It was he, says, a young lad, who, with his wife, through the kindness of a Brooklyn home, would feed the poor of the Netherlands.

Continuing, Mr. Bok says: "A school I quickly learned to that save money, to be stingy. A young man found that the American disliked the word 'economy' and on every hand was plenty growing spend. There was literally nothing in American life to teach me the value of economy. I was taught that the man who worked hard and who could earn good salaries in their prime, reach the years of incapacity and dependence. A good family on every hand were living quite up to their means, beyond their means. This was the lesson of the more he—or his wife—spent. I saw fathers and mothers and their children dressed far beyond their income. The proportion of families who ran into debt was far greater than those who did not. When a man was 'pulled in,' when the panic was over, they 'let out.' But the end of one year, unless he had been very lucky, he was again in debt."

Is it not true, we ask the question advisedly—that many of us are in financial difficulty today because, instead of exercising thrift when times were good, we spent to the limit of our earnings, possibly beyond, in the belief that times would always be good, and now we are in trouble with no reserve to fall back on? The French, we are told, are the most thrifty of all nations, but in numerous little ways, carelessly expending a dollar here and a dollar there which, if saved, would be a successful godsend now? In these days of depression, when the world is in a panic, it is the nation least affected and with less unemployment than any other great nation. Why? Because the French people are notoriously frugal; they save.

But we in this new world, with far greater natural wealth and wider opportunity, are wasteful, extravagant, spendthrift. And the result, when we consider the underlying cause of much of our present difficulty to be found in this unfortunate trait in our people? That it over, east for himself or herself. And the result is that we are, as a nation, worse off than we were before the war; and earnings again rise, govern yourself again. You are not wasting much now, because you have not got it to waste; continue the habit when times are good, and when the next depression comes, you will must; continue it even when it is not a life and death necessity. You will then be ready for the next depression; better still, you will ward off such depression.

Walter (seeing dissatisfaction on his face): "Wasn't the dinner cooked to suit you, sir?"
Mother: "Well, and what did he take that back and tell them to boil it down a little?"

Too much
ACID

You will never use crude methods when you know this better method. It is a safe, simple, effective way to get rid of an acid. The quick, harmless and efficient way, the "King of Pain Liniment." It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians in water neutralizes many times its volume of acid in a few moments. The symptoms, such as headache, gas, heartburn, etc., will disappear in five minutes.

Use to get the genuine, prescribed by doctors, for conditions which you can't stand. It is a liquid; it cannot be made in tablets or capsules. Look for the name Phillips' and the word genuine in red. (Made in Canada)

Speaks On Arctic Trip

Sir Hubert Wilkins Tells Australia Of Coming Submarine Adventure
Sir Hubert Wilkins, explorer, told the home folks in Australia by radio how he planned to sneak up on the North Pole from beneath the sea by submarine.

The proposed submarine trip to the Arctic, the veteran of treks and airplane flights at both ends of the earth said, would "probably be the most adventurous I have undertaken."

With a converted navy submarine, Sir Hubert plans to leave this country about May 1, go to England, then to Norway and so begin his run into the ice fields of the Arctic Ocean.

The submarine is christened the "Nautilus," after Jules Verne's submarine.

The submarine has been equipped with ice drills, capable of boring up through more than thirty feet of ice to reach the air. The tip of the large drill contains a hatch through which the crew can reach the ice and by which the crew can bring into the boat when necessary.

Lady Wilkins told newspapermen, that she would accompany Sir Hubert on his submarine voyage under arctic ice this summer. The object of his expedition is to establish a weather station, to establish a ring of meteorological research to study seasonal weather conditions which may have an influence on the weather far to the south. He eventually hopes to have similar stations circling the Antarctic.

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Medical authorities state that many instances of the cause of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The circulation is delayed and the irritation produced is delayed and the result is indigestion.

For the protection of your wee one—for your own peace of mind—have a bottle of "Minard's King of Pain Liniment" always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an everyday helper. It will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep. Its mild regulation will not interfere with the natural action of the bowels. It is coated because of sluggish bowels. All druggists have Castoria.

Test Was Convincing

New Foolproof "Plane Will Land
Itself Safely

A foolproof seaplane which its inventor claims will neither stall, spin or dive and will land itself, is the latest contribution to safety in the air.

While more than a hundred aeronautical experts and financiers watched the plane was successfully tested at Glenn H. Curtiss airport, New York, yesterday. Wilkins made a half dozen short flights, and came to a near-perfect landing each time with the pilot's hands high above his head.

The designer is A. A. Merrill, of New Haven, Conn. He is in charge of aeronautical research at the California Institute of Technology, and a contemporary of the Wright Brothers. Octave Chanute and Langley. He has been working on "plane" since 1918, and this time was forced to mortgage his life insurance to continue.

Movable wings which can be adjusted over an angle of 14 degrees are the secret of the plane's safety. In this way, restricted flying surfaces prevent a pilot from unwittingly going into a stall or a dive. In landing, they mechanically level off at the proper distance from the ground and assume the proper gliding angle.

Russia's second great "Iron" of the world is now down. The big ship attracted little attention even in the land of the Soviets and in other countries it is regarded as just an other excuse on which to hang the blame for weakness in the five year plan.

THAT HOW

In the enlargement of the Bassano Municipal Hospital District by the addition of several townships south of the Bow we find additional argument for the building of a bridge over the Bow river.

The Bassano Hospital is a popular institution and admits patients from districts many miles distant, and some of these districts lie south of the Bow river. Even in periods of the year when the ferries are in operation the journey from the farm to the hospital may be delayed by the time required to make the ferry, method at a time when the life of a patient may depend upon the saving of a few minutes time.
When the ferries are not running the journey from the farm to the hospital may take even longer as the patient increased danger to the life of the patient seeking medical or surgical aid.

Every effort will be made to promote the provincial government to build the Bow river bridge has so far met with a resounding "no" on the grounds of cost of funds.

The provincial department of health prides itself on the wide-scope and efficiency of its activities.
Every year it spends thousands of dollars for clinics and health work. Some of this useful work some of which is the work of physicians in districts already served by established and competent doctors.

If the government is really anxious to abolish needless expense it would seem that a careful survey of health work in the country would reveal the need of a revision of its activities and a consequent saving of public money.

Spending of such money in the construction of a public works such as the Bow river bridge would be a public necessity and provide employment at a time when it is most needed. And in the case of this particular bridge, its construction would give many people ready access to their own hospital, thus providing and improvement in those better health measures which the Hon. Mr.
Hoadley is so fond advocating.

COMPETITION IN SUGAR

The beet sugar industry of Alberta may receive keener competition from the cane sugar industry through lower production cost of cane sugar by means of a new machine for harvesting cane.

In the past the cane has been cut by hand labor. The new harvesting machine does the work of two hundred men, and it is claimed will revolutionize the cane sugar industry.

The cane harvester is the invention of Mr. S. Falkiner, of Alberta, and is the result of nineteen years' continuous research and expert ments.

Seven of these new machines are now in use on the huge sugar plantations of Florida, and more will soon be delivered. The new harvesting machine is growing in the use of cane sugar production is expected. Not only do the machines save the heavy expense of hand labor, but they recover a greater amount of cane by cutting closer to the ground than is done by hand labor.

It is as safe as claimed these machines will probably be used on sugar plantations everywhere.

This new development in the cane sugar industry will be followed with interest by the beet growers and sugar interests of southern Alberta.
In view of low production cost mechanical cane harvesting is followed by a lower marketable price for cane sugar it will mean stiffer competition for the beet sugar industry.

Competition with the cane
industry is not the only factor which would mean that in addition to requesting government aid, the salve-tion of the best sugar industry producing heavier yields of best per acre or lowering of production cost by the use of more machinery or both.

BEAUTY

By El. Wyn Griffith

This pattern we call Good and Ill
is not the play of light and shade
Upon a hill.
Born but to die with set of sun, Foredoomed to birth when night is done.

His hand who held the Scales of Right

In front of Rome is dust

More in the light

The sword that slew at his behest
Is his dread count the swallows nest.

Purgation now the Evil wrought

In Egypt's town by dark-brown

kings

A thing of naught!

The sorrow, sad-angulfed the tears,

But Beauty journeys down the years.

I know of naught can e'er outlive

This fleeting fashion in man's mind,

Thi fugitive

Pursuit of Right and fear of Wrong,

Savon golden echoes of an ancient song.

Or could words the poets write

Turne the darkness of a troubled heart.

The coal delight!

Of Venus rising from the deep,

The mirrored stars, a child-asleep,

Worn then in Beauty but the thread

Of life that binds our days in thral

To years long dead.

In unhours, and of this Now

A phantom makes? Go pay thy vow!

BAPTISM

By Wilfred J. Funk

I have gone, I have seen, I have been born again

The new sharp lurch and the long

sea roll,

Feeb ribs aching, wad-lashed rain

Singing a sapph a black porph,

Moonthlight, starlight, Great Bear

hunting,

On a jet-blown prou deep ...drunk

with spray,

Drenched in thunder, white snow

fung

In the silver of the moon on a a wild seaway.

I'm washed clean, my sins purged

white,

sharp, sweet air and salt-sweet

foam,

I'ld dream of the Great North

light,

My heart's happy and I've turned home.

Knows His Chickens

A red-haired boy applied for a job in a butcher shop. "How much will you give me?"

"Three dollars a week; but what can you do?" asked the boy.

"I can clean myself up useful around a butcher shop."

"Anything?"

"Well, be specific. Can you dress a chicken?"

"Not on three dollars a week,"

said the boy.

National Conference

The small, nervous husband was having an unpleasant interview with the large, muscular cook, whom he was remanding on account of her numerous breakages.

"Cook, you're a bad cook," said she.
"You can't frightened me—said she, "I'm not a bad cook."

"What's that I said?"

"Well," replied the other, looking th' cheap of broken china. "I would rather say—than you are a destroyer!"

serve wild life in the province.

Wanton slaughter has almost exterminated the buffalo and the antelope. The prairie wolf, which almost disappeared, and now there is danger of the wild duck being so depicted in numbers that hunting of this bird will be ruined in many districts.

It appears that if wild bird life is to be preserved in the settled districts of southern Alberta some time will have to be made to some more favorable arrangement for the hatching and rearing of ducks, geese, and other game birds.

In this connection much good work can be accomplished by organizations such as the Bassano Fish and Game Protective Association. There are several numbered similar associations in the province. Every sportsman in every community should be a member of such an organization if he wishes to preserve the wild life that every year provides him with such good sport and hunting.

By growing in the sloughs plants which provide succulent food for ducks and geese, by rearing new species of game birds, and by educating its members not to slaughter needlessly in the hunting season, these organizations can maintain and even increase the game population, and thus provide splendid hunting for many years to come.

through improper eating and drinking habits, or by overeating or undereating. The person who is over weight is growing an over-strain. Rest is just as important as exercise; both are needed to keep the heart and arteries in good condition.

Diseased teeth, gums, tonsils, head sinuses, or other foci of infection must be properly treated to prevent the poisons which wears out the important parts of the body early in life. Growing pains, childhood diseases, and other ills are treated without delay. They are serious because if they are not properly treated the person will never recover.

To those preventive measures, add the periodic health examination, and many cases of lower heart disease will be prevented before they ever grow old.

Questions concerning health addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally

by Dr. Grant Fleming.

It was Sunday morning in a men's class in a famous Presbyterian church school.

"Will you please tell me," said a member to the teacher, "how far in action miles Dan is from Beersheba?

All my life I have heard the familiar question, 'How far is Dan from Beersheba?'

"Dan is from Beersheba," but I have never known the distance."

Before the answer could be given another member arose in the back of the room and inquired:

"I understand that Dan and Beersheba are the names of two places?"

"Yes."

"This is one on me. I always thought they were husband and wife, like Sodom and Gomorrah."

33,117,314 Pieces is Long Laundry List

Can you imagine a bewildered Chinaman trying to total a laundry bill of 33,117,314 pieces? But there is one like that. The total of washing done by the Canadian Pacific Railway, Canadian Pacific Railway, Canadian Pacific Hotels, and Canadian Pacific Camps; sleeping and laundry car service, (which also carries food, restaurants, and laundry), and Canadian Pacific Hotels. If Coast hotel service, if Canadian Pacific steamship service, if Canadian Pacific railway service, if Canadian Pacific Camps, if Canadian Pacific Hotels, and so on, blankets, bed-spreads, rugs, and so forth must be washed. Every piece of laundry handled because a laundry-piece can't be washed in the wash. Thus a single table-napkin may be a laundry item and over again, according to the supply of linen needed.

The laundry department now has 783,821 pieces of linen; the diners and sleeping car service, some 1,500,000 and the British Columbia steamship service 217,000 laundry car loadings a grand total of 25,56,821 pieces. These include all laundry items such as table-cloths, sheets, napkins, towels, pillows, and so on, while coats worn by the company's servants.

SPARKS AND FLASHES FROM THE ANVIL OF PARLIAMENT

A surprise was sprung in the house on Tuesday by Premier J. E. Brownlee when he moved that a special committee of the house to consist of nine members should be chosen by Mr. Speaker, to investigate and report as to whether the petition presented under the direct legislation act for an anit-sodomy petition was to be allowed to go into the direct legislation committee, as a number and bona fides of signatures and otherwise conforms with all requirements of the direct legislation act and the rules of the house will be applied.

"I am opposed to the motion and would like to withdraw it, but I can't see my way clear to act on the petition committee. In this I am speaking for all members associated with me in this section of the house."

"I contend that the appointment of a committee, to investigate and report as to whether the petition was to be allowed to go into the direct legislation committee, as a number and bona fides of signatures, conforms with all requirements of the direct legislation act and the rules of the house will be applied.

"The proposal of the premier for this committee immediately aroused the Liberal members and George H. Webster at once registered a strong protest against any such move. Mr. Webster declared that his party could not consent to the naming of a committee for the purpose suggested.

"It is proposed to have a motion and a vote to withdraw it, but I can't see my way clear to act on the petition committee. In this event and at that time I have no doubt the different members will state their attitude toward any policy brought down by the government as a result of this petition."

It is felt in some quarters that in springing this move the government is attempting to bring down the government by the opposition. In this some of the responsibility of dealing with the petition of the anti-sodomy element in the province. Opposition members feel that the premier is trying to commit himself to an action that may not be popular with the electorate in the long run. The premier presents an amazing side-light on the doings of the legislation.

The forecast for the week is one steady work and grinding out of routine matters by the house, now that the budget is out of the way.
